

Winter

Mount Carleton Provincial Park is a special place anytime of the year but the winter months are unique.

As it is mountain country, the weather is unpredictable. The sun can be shining in the morning on any given day and next thing you know, you are in the middle of a snowstorm.

The park is closed during the winter months. The gate will remain open and the road plowed in as far Nictau Lake to enable the ice fishermen access to Nictau Lake, as long as the ice remains in the lake.

Snowmobiling is available as long as the snow conditions are favourable.

Cross country ski and snowshoe trails are not groomed at this time.

Spring

Some of the best places to visit in the park are the lakes and streams. The water is clear and the surrounding forest is lush and green. The park is a great place to enjoy nature and the outdoors.
